

Pahokee Library Plans Ok

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council approved temporary plans for library construction Tuesday.

Chester A. Cone, library architect, presented plans to the city commission and gave a general description of the proposed layout of the library and the site selected.

Oscar Dobrow, Chairman of the City Council, asked Cone whether or not the chosen site was too near Bacon Pl. Road because this road has been surveyed with four-laning in mind.

Cone stated that he did not choose the site, but there was ample space for four-laning, if it should come about, although it would cut some parking space.

Alternate plans to trim construction costs were also discussed. Cone stated that costs could be cut by using rock rather than paving for the parking area, or putting marble coat on the walls of the building rather than painting plaster. It was decided that bids for both marble coat and plaster would be requested and the council would decide on the materials according to the most feasible cost.

The proposed size of the building is approximately the same as the Clewiston library and is recommended for a town of 10,000.

It was decided that only jump sum bids would be accepted and advertising will be accepted immediately. This is to alleviate awarding several smaller bids to do some jobs.

Advertisement for bids will probably last a month.

Cone said estimated construction time is 150 days.

Among other business discussed by the commission was a letter from Dawson Newton, of the Ocean Sciences and Engineering Council of Palm Beach County, requesting the City of Pahokee to appropriate $300 in next year's budget for Council's research.

Councilman Sanders moved to allocate the money but the motion lacked a second.

A petition was received by the council to bar Owen Thomas from receiving an alcoholic beverage sale permit for the property, formerly Peacock's Fish Market, he is intending to buy. The council decided that further discussion with Thomas was necessary before a decision could be made.

A letter was received from the law firm that represented Police Officer Gordon and the City of Pahokee in the 1964 lawsuit requesting payment of Roger's law fees for the appeal. The commissioners unanimously agreed to pay these fees. It was also decided to appropriate a special contingency fund in next year's budget to cushion the City in case of another similar lawsuit, if funds are available.

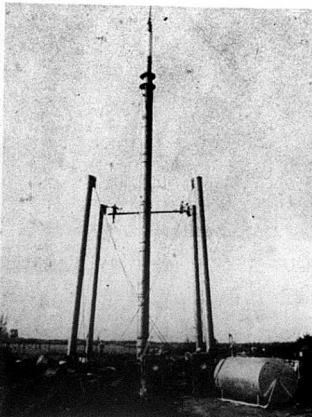

The city council is attempting to arrange a conference with individuals wishing to discuss the new evaluation and property tax assessment with Honeycutt, the City's tax consultant and planner. The conference is planned for early August.

The problems of providing city water service to Canal Point at an acceptable cost to both parties was discussed with the possibilities of annexing Canal Point.

The council discussed the problems and cost of fire service outside the city limits, possibilities of discontinuing these services as soon as outskirting locations could provide fire districts. The deadline to petition the County Commission this year for fire districts was June 30.

Lake Harbor Water Tank

Park Opens Saturday

Pahokee's new state park will officially open Saturday, July 15. R. W. Crane, Chief Park Ranger, stated.

A local advisory Council consisting of Mayor Duncan Padgett, Pahokee, A. R. Harrington, Canal Point, Emmett H. Roberts, Belle Glade, W. O. "Bill" Moss, Ft. Lauderdale, and Fred Yount of West Palm Beach, is working in cooperation with the Florida Board of Parks to get the Pahokee Park on its feet, and keep it there.

The $155,000 park includes about 30 acres spanning a mile of lake-front.

Facilities are provided for camping, in 30 new campsites and free picnicking, on 30 new picnic tables and outdoor grills. The marina offers the best boat docking facilities.

Electrical outlets will be provided at 16 of the campsites, at a charge of 50c per day, and all 30 will have water. Two comfort stations on the south end of the park, near the camping area, provide hot and cold water, and bathroom and shower facilities.

During periods of heavy use, camping will be limited to a maximum of 2 weeks so camps will not have to be turned away, Ranger Crane said, otherwise the maximum limit will be up to the discretion of the superintendent. No reservations will be accepted, said Crane.

There will be a charge of $2.50 plus tax per night per single family group under ten persons with an additional charge of $2.50 if more than ten persons use the same camp site. Other standard state park regulations will apply, Crane said.

The park office will open at 8 a. m. and upon arrival, campers will be issued a gate key by paying a deposit. Campers are requested to check out by 11 a. m.

Recognized groups, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, will be properly accommodated if chaperoned. Juveniles, unchaperoned, will not be allowed to camp in the park.

The park shelter has been used for school parties, Little League picnics and church gatherings.

The children enjoy various games, mostly outdoor unless it rains. To participate in some sports they are divided in to age groups. Soft ball and volleyball is popular also shuffleboard.

SSWA Construction Nears End

The water tank construction is on schedule in Lake Harbor for the South Shore Water Association.

The tank, to be completed in three weeks, will be the final link in the new water supply system to run between Clewiston and South Bay. The system will draw on both towns for water supply. Monday, samples of the line, now complete from Lake Harbor to South Bay, will be taken by the State Health Department and approval is expected a week later.

The approval will signal the beginning of final house connections.

About 100 people are now being serviced between Lake Harbor and Clewiston and an additional 1100 users will be connected.

The Lake Harbor tank will serve as a storage tank and will also equalize the pressure of the water flowing from the two ends of the line. The structure will stand 101 feet and will hold 125,000 gallons.

The tank is being constructed by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company. A crane is now atop the central support and water pipe and is used for lifting the four supporting legs into place. The tank is prefabricated for quick assembly on the site.

Commissioners Aubrey Farmer and C. Bowen are on vacation and were not in attendance.

Use of the old library, a converted residence, has been requested by the Police Department for detective division. However, plans had been made to transfer three agencies who use an old warehouse, building near the old library to the vacated structure. The old warehouse building, "which isn't safe for the terms," is scheduled for removal, City Manager Tevis Hugely said.

The three agencies, the Florida Highway Patrol, Social Security and the State Welfare Department, each use the office space as a convenience to citizens.

The old warehouse structure is serviceable for the present, Hugely said, but is not worth the cost of repairs.

Mayor Bailey said if the Police Department needs expansion he favors the use of the old library rather than changing a Police request for additions to the police station.

Bailey asked that the three agencies be advised of the city's consideration and asked for suggestions. Bailey also asked for a full history of the agencies use of city facilities.

Three Md's Attend Session In Miami

Drs. James A. Gray, James A. Silver and S. J. Simmons of Belle Glade were among 169 family physicians attending the 18th Annual Scientific Session of the Florida Academy of General Practice.

Florida's family doctors gathered July 1-3 at the Fontainebleau Hotel to conduct yearly business and hear medical experts from all parts of the country discuss the latest developments in medical science.

The scientific sessions enable FAGP members to complete needed hours in postgraduate education toward their American Academy of General Practice membership. The FAGP is the only medical specialty group requiring completion of a minimum amount of certified postgraduate education in order to qualify for continuing membership.

A special Board meeting, to set the millage, will be held at 9 a. m. July 25, 1967 at West Palm Beach, the Board decided. This is the last possible date to set the millage for the year. Daily said. Current tax levy is 37/100 of one mill per dollar of property value in each of the 18 counties — the lowest millage ever adopted by a Governing Board in history.

By unanimous vote the Governing Board agreed to accept local responsibility for improving the road.

Commission Met Monday

Discussion, rather than action, was the order of a quick, 45 minute City Commission meeting Monday.

Commenting on the short meeting, one of the Commissioners told Mayor Bill J. Bailey that with this kind of record he might be re-elected. Bailey quickly grabbed for the gavel to call an end to the session, but stopped in mid-air and commented, "Hold it, maybe we should talk a little longer."

Bailey and Commissioners Aubrey Farmer and E. F. Weathers' terms are ending with elections scheduled for September 12.

The three City Commissioners in attendance at Monday night's meeting tabled a decision on the use of the old library building until the full commission could make a decision.

R. R. Office

Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Company announced today the appointment of R. W. Lanier, District Sales Manager, in charge of freight sales, for the Belle Glade territory.

Seaboard Coast Line Railroad came into being on July 1 when the former Seaboard Air Line Railroad and Atlantic Coast Line Railroad were merged to form the new company.

Six Glades Schools Have Deficiencies

Glades school ranked low in accreditation procedures by the Florida State Department of Education.

Of the 18 County Schools accredited with Limited Deficiencies six were Glades Schools. They are: Belle Glade Junior High School, East Lake, Everglades Elementary, Lake Shore Jr., Sr. High School, Pahokee Elementary and Pahokee Jr., Sr. High School.

For the second year, all Palm Beach County Schools received accreditation. Of the 90 County schools only 18 received the second classification of accreditation and none received the third level. This was accomplished after 11 schools were non-accredited in 1964, and five were non-accredited in 1965.

The fact that Palm Beach County again has all its schools accredited, is especially noteworthy since the State made its accreditation requirements more stringent last year.

The State Accreditation report consisted of all senior high schools in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools gives the County school system a position of good standing.

We must, however, continue to improve if we are to maintain this position since the standards may be revised shortly by both the State Department of Education and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Superintendent Robert W. Fulton said.

Cub Scout Pack 622 and the Sea Scouts had permission to take some of the eggs for a science project. During July and August, when the turtles lay the eggs, the beaches are well patrolled by conservation officers, as some people destroy the eggs.

Those thoroughly enjoying the trip were Horace Harris, and sons, Jeff and Scott; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Schlechter, Ken and Bill; Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Stein, Sonny, Julia, Robbie and Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Thompson, Bill and Ann Dr. and Mrs. Mendal Lucs, Wayne and Lee; Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Markham, Brenda, Brandon, Basil, Bobby Lou; Mrs. Earl Brown and Wayne and Steve; also Cub Scouts Jim Williams, Paul Orsenigo, Chuck Hickman and Sonny Willis.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

CONTROL OF THE CAPE

A beneficial by-product of the closing of the Suez Canal is a renewed awareness of the importance of the sea route around the Cape of Good Hope and of the Republic of South Africa which serves as the sentinel of the West at the southern tip of the continent. Less than a year ago, the U. N. glass palace on New York's East River rang with the angry words of Afro-Asian delegates demanding a crackdown against South Africa and its friendly neighbors to the north, the new independent nation of Rhodesia. The Johnson administration, in the distress of Americans concerned with the strategic interests of the U. S., added its weight to pressures applied against the two progressive African states which are under European leadership.

Today, that same Afro-Asian majority in the United Nations is too busy railing at Israel to devote any attention to South Africa and Rhodesia. And both the United States and England are deeply concerned about the continuing flow of Middle East oil, in which South Africa plays an important role which should not be forgotten a year or two hence.

No sooner had the Suez Canal been closed than oil tankers and merchantmen loading in the Middle East were diverted around the Cape of Good Hope. Immediately, 20 British tankers were scheduled to put into Cape Town, South Africa, for refueling and replenishing. This initial group of ships, however, was only the beginning of a vast movement of merchant vessels around the Cape, with hundreds scheduled to drop anchor in the South African ports of Durban, East London, Port Elizabeth, and Cape Town. Approximately 1,500 ships regularly use the Suez route, and now will be using the Cape Town route. Many of these ships will need fuel, stores and repairs at South African ports.

There is a lesson here that the Western maritime nations should never forget: namely that South Africa's harbors are vital to the free world in peace and war. Imagine the results if South Africa's ports were closed to Western tankers and freighters! Many of the tankers employed in the Suez route are not equipped for the long voyage to England and Europe, without stopping en route. And what would happen to those ships which, though capable of an uninterrupted journey, suffered mechanical breakdown? South Africa has the only major drydock on the African continent — a drydock large enough to accommodate an American cruiser or light aircraft carrier. Obviously, the closure of South Africa's ports would be a disaster for the West.

The liberals in power in Washington and London should have thought of this several years ago when they began their campaign of abuse against a loyal maritime ally. These liberals have attempted to promote revolution and other friendly maritime regimes throughout Southern Africa, thereby ignoring the strategic interests of the U. S. and England. If a Cate

Clearly, it is time that the Johnson administration make a public statement, repudiating the anti-South African policy which endangers the interests of the United States and other friendly maritime nations. Control of the Cape must remain in the hands of a stable, European-type government which will stand by the West in a time of crisis.

Other less harmful pesticides are available in place of the three chlorinated pesticides. These are recommended for use on peanut hay as "Sevin" and Malathion.

I believe that the additional expense becomes negligible when compared with the cost of possible injury to persons eating meat adulterated with highly-toxic pesticides.

The Florida Department of Agriculture stands ready to cooperate with peanut growers, cattle feed lot operators, feed dealers and cattle producers in measuring the pesticides in meat.

The Department's pesticide residue detection program is one of, if not the best of its kind in the United States and is designed to protect the consuming public by minimizing the threat of pesticides contamination.

I have made a personal appeal to all county agricultural agents and the news media to work with the Department to disseminate information to prevent the further contamination of cattle feed.

By working together, I am certain the threat of further contamination can be minimized and the proper uses of pesticides insured.

Treasurer Zeke said we ain't had time yet to hear from them various hand-out agencies, our Congressman and Adam Clayton Powell about donating a little for the project, but he reported he was still holding to that $2.78 collection. To make shore, Bug Hookum ask him to get it out and count it.

It was nice having the Good Person at the session and giving us his thinking on the matter. And he always has some extra words of wisdom for the fellow. For instance, he said he had took note lately that too many parents was doing things in reverse, trying up their dogs and letting their younguns run loose, said he might preach a sermon on this subject soon. I aim to go hear it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Pesticide, Godsend-Threat

By Doyle Conner

The development of pesticides for use on crops has been a Godsend to Florida farmers and has minimized the danger of crop losses to insects.

Florida farmers are among the nation's largest purchasers of pesticides and use a wide range of pesticides on a variety of crops.

Due to the variety of types of pesticides, and the degree of toxicity, certain pesticides are manufactured for specific types of crops.

As you well know, certain pesticides are harmful to humans and animals. When a pesticide is used ill-advisedly, then the threat to public health is greatly increased.

Early this month, I instructed Florida Department of Agriculture inspectors to halt the sale of roughage feed to cattle producers of all peanut hay contaminated with three highly-toxic, chlorinated pesticides.

I took this action, after inspectors discovered that several lots of beef were adulterated with levels of pesticides near-baneful to humans.

The pesticides — DDT, Toxaphene, BHC and Dieldrin — were being used by peanut farmers in 22 counties of Central, Northeast and Northwest Florida.

The primary source of the pesticides which contaminated the beef came from the sale of peanut hay which had been sprayed with these three pesticides.

High pesticide residues also were detected in green sludge used for cattle feed in the 22-county area.

Other less harmful pesticides are available in place of the three chlorinated pesticides. These are recommended for use on peanut hay as "Sevin" and Malathion.

I believe that the additional expense becomes negligible when compared with the cost of possible injury to persons eating meat adulterated with highly-toxic pesticides.

The Florida Department of Agriculture stands ready to cooperate with peanut growers, cattle feed lot operators, feed dealers and cattle producers in measuring the pesticides in meat.

The Department's pesticide residue detection program is one of, if not the best of its kind in the United States and is designed to protect the consuming public by minimizing the threat of pesticides contamination.

I have made a personal appeal to all county agricultural agents and the news media to work with the Department to disseminate information to prevent the further contamination of cattle feed.

By working together, I am certain the threat of further contamination can be minimized and the proper uses of pesticides insured.

"It seems like every time you're about to catch up with the child, then his own mother, the Joneses, their refinement."

In appreciation for his support of Florida agriculture, Sen. Jerry Thomas (D, Riviera Beach) is presented a western style hat by Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner, on behalf of the industry. Aiding Conner with the presentation is Thomas' 14-year-old daughter, Robbie. Thomas is chairman of the Senate Standing Committee on Agriculture and Livestock and a member of the Game and Fish Committee. He represents District 35, which includes Glades, Hendry, Lee and Palm Beach counties. (Florida Department of Agriculture photo).

Florida Teachers Frustrated

TALLAHASSEE, July 6—Overcrowded classrooms and too many non-teaching duties are two of the most frustrating problems encountered by the classroom teacher in Florida, according to Miss Agnes Johnson, Florida Education Association's Board of Directors.

Miss Johnson, whose work with the Florida Education Association for the past 12 years has brought her into contact with thousands of teachers around the state and an equal number of young people the children as they prepare for teaching careers, is retiring from FEA this August. She has been Field Representative for FEA since 1955.

A classroom teacher for 19 years, Miss Johnson recalls some personal experience with the overcrowded classroom. She taught sixth grade one year in a Florida school where she averaged from 52 to 56 pupils in the room and "had to move my desk outside into a cloakroom to pack the students in." That was in 1948-49 and the pupil-teacher ratio still presents problems for some schools with 20% of the state's classrooms overcrowded.

Miss Johnson recalls that during her first year of teaching she had no contract at all, "just a letter from the superintendent" and part of her duty was to serve lunches to the children as they returned from the lunch line. "Non-teaching duties such as this — and one researcher tabulated 101 of them ranging from taking up lunch money to buttoning on overcoats — that teachers find most irksome because it 'takes time away from our main job — teaching.' It has been the main reason some schools have hired contract teachers.

Miss Johnson's opinion one thing that has added to the "almost unmanageable burden" of the classroom teacher is the tendency to switch an increasing amount of parental training from the home to the school.

teaches him manners, discipline, and many common courtesies of life."

She said in some cases they are almost mother substitutes. "I have seen children hang around the school after class were over for the day simply because they dreaded going home to an empty house with both parents away at work," she said.

In her experience Miss Johnson has observed that more of the young people who want teaching careers have experienced more concern about the low salaries that await them in future years than about the beginning salaries. "Studies have shown that they can expect only a 38 percent rise in income over a 10-year period. Industry provides an 83 percent increase over the same interval of time," she said.

National Teachers OK Strikes

Statement by Dr. Sam M. Lumbert, Incoming Executive Secretary, National Education Association, at the NEA annual convention ending today.

The NEA will not encourage strikes, but if one occurs after all good faith efforts fail, we will not walk out on our local associations. My personal feeling is that when school conditions present a serious threat to the safety and welfare of the children or teachers, teachers may be justified in taking drastic action. If a teacher has to face 45-50 children in first grade classrooms, I believe the teacher is justified in refusing to face that kind of load. The results of going on with it may be worse than a work stoppage.

Patriotism... A Lost Art?

By John Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, from the July issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.

CAN THERE BE ANY ACT more sickening and revolting than a crowd of so-called citizens deserting and burning their country's flag? Those who resort to such a heinous behavior are surely lost in the depths of depravity. Obviously, their first loyalty is not to the United States.

True, our Nation is founded on concepts and principles which encourage dissent and opposition. These are traditions we must always defend and support. But touching a torch to the flag far exceeds reasonable protest. It is a shameful act which serves no purpose but to encourage those who want our country to erupt in violence and destruction.

On this 191st anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, we might ask what causes unpatriotic outbursts and irrational protests. Why do people turn against their native land and openly support totalitarian forces whose goal is to enslave the world—forces which do not even allow taken opposition from their subjects? Why do some individuals refuse to serve and defend their country? Why do they burn their draft cards and their flag?

There may be many reasons for such action, but I am fully convinced that dying patriotism is one major cause. Love of country is being de-emphasized and excluded from several phases of our life. Many educators and other leaders seem to feel it is no longer necessary for boys and girls to be concerned with how our country came into being, what it stands for, and the courageous and noble deeds of our forefathers to preserve it.

Conditions are now such in some circles that an individual who professes love of his country, reverence for its flag, and belief in the principles which make our Nation great is considered a fool. Open aversion to patriotism of any form is increasing. Even some news media take a "longue-tongue" approach to persons and groups which promote and participate in patriotic endeavors. Love of one's country is treated as some kind of social disease to be tolerated, if not stamped out. Protests are made that too much patriotism leads to international conflict. I submit that the United States will never have anything to fear from its ardent and genuinely patriotic citizens.

American history proves that freedom and liberty come at high prices and that their upkeep is costly and time-consuming. As Daniel Webster so aptly put it, "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it. Let our object be our country." "Not our country the object of desecration and abuse.

Two Local Girls Win Tuition For A Week At Youth Camp

The Youth Camps for the Church of God, in Florida held at Wimauna, Florida are being attended by many of the local children. Debbie Sandle daughter of the pastor of the Belle Glade Church of God attended the Junior Camp last week.

This week at the intermediate Camp Susan Wilson, Debbie Rogers and Kathy Phillips are attending and next week Joyce Hadden and Sue Sandle will attend the Teenage Camp.

Debbie Sandle and Kathy Phillips won their weeks tuition in a Youth contest sponsored by the Young People's Endeavor of the local church. Points were awarded for attendance, new members brought in, winner in Bible quiz and also in the collection of trading stamps and coupons that are sent to our Church of God, Home for Children. The Home for Children is able to turn them in for cash that can be used to purchase needed equipment for the Home. Last year the Home for Children in Sevierville, Tenn., was able to install a new $20,000 stainless steel kitchen with the stamps sent in.

If any one would like to use their stamps to help these needy children, the Belle Glade Church of God will be glad to receive them and see that they get to the Home. This includes trading stamps and any coupons worth any cash value such as Borden's, Lutziane Coffee, etc., etc.

Conference Held

Pastor's Bible

At Stetson Univ.

Nearly 100 pastors and lay leaders from all parts of Florida attended the Pastors' Bible Conference at Stetson University last week. The church leaders were treated to proactive lectures and entered into dialogue on the critical issues facing churches today.

Director of the Conference, Rev. George Plaster, termed this "certainly one of the most successful study sessions we have had at Stetson for ministers."

The program featured discussions and panel dialogues led by Dr. John Newport, professor of philosophy of religion at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Ft. Worth, Tex.; Dr. Conrad Willard, pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Miami; and Dr. Warren Carr, pastor of the Wake Forest Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Conference, which dealt with such issues as the "New Morality," "Secularism and the Institution of Religion," and the attitudes of Southern Baptists toward other religions, is held annually at Stetson under the sponsorship of the Extension Division of Christian Education.

Rev. R. L. Polk Out Of Hospital

Jim Thompson, missionary from Vero Beach will be the speaker at the First Baptist Church, South Bay this coming Sunday, July 16. He will bring the message at both morning and evening services.

Rev. R. L. Polk, pastor, for First Baptist Church, is recuperating from recent surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach. He is continuing to improve each day. He wishes to thank everyone for all the kindnesses shown him during his hospitalization and his recuperation.

Read Psalm 121; II Corinthians 12:7-10

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. —Psalm 121:1-2

MY husband and I were in Mindanao to visit the churches there. Part of the time we walked, sometimes in mud, usually up and down the hills. One evening I spoke to a group of volunteer girls in an evangelistic institute. I said, "Girls, you are here to prepare to suffer."

The following day, we resumed our trip. We were to climb nine hills, which were difficult for me. On the fourth hill, I dragged my feet. My husband tried to encourage me, saying, "Mama, you told the girls last night to prepare to suffer." I prayed, "Lord, give me strength for Thee. My message is coming back to me."

My strength was renewed, and I climbed those hills. At the end of the road were people waiting for the gospel message. What joy we all had together through a fellowship of working! Unless Christians are willing to go through mud and climb hills for their Lord, people will not find Christ and His help.

PRAYER: Father, we thank Thee for Christ and for our faith. Inspire us in our witness. Renew our strength this day and give us courage to go with Thee to tell others of Christ. In His name. Amen.

IS IT GREATEST PROBLEM TODAY?

By Lewis Lewellyn

Gov. George Romney, Michigan's chief executive, recently declared that the moral decline in the nation is a greater problem than the war in Viet Nam.

He called attention to a weakening of religious and moral convictions.

That the entertainment media are contributing to this decline in morals has been noted by many observers. Is this altogether unintentional or is it — partly, at least — deliberate?

Testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency has been quoted to the effect that the president of a television network, on one occasion, insisted that "sex and violence" must be included in the format of a specific series of television shows or the series would not be shown on that network.

"FILTHY, SMUTTY" SONGS

However, the president of a chain of radio stations, reacting against the flood of "filthy and smutty" popular songs, has announced that the stations in that chain will refuse to play records that "offend public morals, dignity, or taste."

He denounced a segment of the record industry which he described as "flooding our market" with records that "deal with sex, sin, and drugs." There is, of course, still the option on the part of the listener or viewer to turn off the radio or television receiver when the material is objectionable.

Progressive

Supper Held

Tuesday

The senior high group of the MYF began a progressive supper Tuesday night at the Community Methodist Church at 7 p. m.

The group proceeded to Mary Leigh America's home for sale; Caroline Leonard's home for the main dish, lasagna; Margaret Thompson's home for dessert; and had popcorn and cakes at Patty Stevenson's home, where the closing devotional was given.

Discussion groups are scheduled every Sunday night, with the junior high meeting at 6:30 p. m. and the senior high meeting after church, and a junior high cookout is being held today at Rardin Park on Lake Okechobee at 7 p. m.

Sunday's sermon will be "Christian Family Living."

GARBAGE IN THE SALAD

A mother was peeling and scraping vegetables for a salad when her teen-age daughter asked her for permission to go to see a motion picture. The girl said that it was a questionable film but all of the other girls were going and they didn't think it would hurt them.

As she was talking, the girl saw her mother pick up some of the scraps and peelings and put them into the salad.

Why, Mother, she exclaimed, "you're putting garbage into the salad!"

"Yes, I know," her mother replied, "but I thought that if you didn't mind garbage in your mind and heart you certainly wouldn't mind a little in your stomach."

The Bible tells us that it is that defiles a man — "evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness."

"After the hurricane, they brought our son clear down from Tennessee to help out."

You bet we did. That son was one of hundreds of Southern Bell specialists we brought in to make order out of chaos. Gathering task forces from all over is a Bell custom among disaster strikers.

Without men like him, it would take much too long to get everything back to normal. And he wouldn't have been tipped for the assignment if he hadn't been the best. No wonder his parents are proud.

FFA Boys, Miller and Adams Attend Fla. Forestry Camp

Two Palm Beach County vocational agriculture students are attending the Florida Forestry Service Forestry Training Camp at O'Leary State Park this week.

Selected by the local Future Farmers of America Chapter, they are Tommy Miller and Omar Adams, of Pahokee. A total of 251 FFA boys are scheduled to attend the camp which is split into two, one-week sessions.

The boys are receiving field and classroom instruction from the professional foresters of the Florida Forest Service, the University of Florida, and private industry. Vocational agriculture teachers are serving as counselors.

"These boys are eager to learn modern forestry practices," says E. R. (Ed) Howard, Information & Education

Chief of the Florida Forest Service and director of the annual camp. "We try to acquaint them with as much basic and practical forestry as possible."

Filling a tight schedule are courses in forest genetics, gum farming, forest fire prevention and control, reforestation, tropical forestry, forest insects and diseases, outdoor recreation and wildlife management. Recreation activities include swimming in the Santa Fe River, softball, shuffleboard, volleyball and movies.

The boys sleep in sturdy cabins which are permanent structures of the park. They eat hot meals in a modern dining hall.

The week-long activity will be climaxed Friday night with the selection of four outstanding campers and the presentation of awards.

The training camp is in its 33rd year, making it the oldest in the nation. It is also the largest.

Operating expenses for the camp are donated every year by Florida Forest products industries.

Record Sales Tax For 1965-66

TALLAHASSEE — Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson, Jr., Comptroller of Florida, today reported that Florida's sales and use tax provided the state with a record $300,898,899 in revenue during the 1966-67 fiscal year.

"This represents an increase of nearly $17.8 million, or 6.3 per cent, above the total collections for the 1965-66 fiscal year, and is certainly indicative of the continuing growth of Florida's healthy economy," said Dickinson.

In addition revenue collections were up in the categories of the state gasoline tax and Florida's wholesale sporting goods tax, noted Dickinson.

Palm Beach Junior College Students Protest Large Tuition Increase

Elected representatives of the student body at Palm Beach Junior College petitioned Governor Claude Kirk and members of the legislature for "adequate financing from the state level" for the college.

With an elevation of 12,866 feet, Lake Talimay in California, is the highest lake in the U.S.

The Executive Cabinet of the Student Government Association voted unanimously a resolution to be sent to the governor and the legislature. The resolution recognizes the increasing cost of junior college education and said the students "understand the need for sharing the burden of increased costs by payment of reasonable tuition and fees."

But it said loss of over $1 million in state support and an increase in tuition "up to $100 per term" would be a serious financial burden.

It asked for additional financing "to the extent that any future adjustment in tuition be held down to a more manageable annual year increase, and thus insure that Palm Beach Junior College will continue to be of service to all of the residents of the Palm Beach County area."

Currently tuition charges are $50 a term plus $15 student activity fee. A $30 increase in tuition proposed earlier was not opposed by the students but a possible increase of $65 or more starting next year prompted the student resolution.

"Kids here feel in general that they are willing to pay more because of the increase cost of education but the increase proposal is so darn late that some students may not be able to double available funds for the Fall Semester," said J. W. Koontz of the public information office of the Junior College.

The college has an extensive loan and scholarship system, Koontz said, but doubling the tuition would cut in half the number of students the money would cover.

There is no feeling that the college is not offering a good bargain in Education but the General purpose of a junior college system is to make education available to all.

The students feel this purpose will be put to the test by a large increase, Koontz said.

175,000 MILES (or how a DATSUN can give your pocketbook a pickup!)

A few months ago, a man came into a Datsun dealer in California, and asked his topcoat be adjusted. Casually he mentioned he had 153,000 miles on his 1964 Datsun Pickup. During this time he had put in 4 changes of spark plugs, a new tire now and then and oil changes whenever he got around to it. The dealer gave his Datsun a minor tune up and some other services which cost $22.00... and made it purr like new. Today that Datsun has over 175,000 miles on it and is still going strong!
